Congrats! The challenges are posted at the link at the bottom. Please click one of the 4 themes and take a look at yours and explore all the tabs. The hackpad is there for people to post questions and for you to answer if you choose (let me know if you'd like more info). I'll be looking through them too, especially during the event on 11-12 April. Also, your email is not shown to anyone, but you and I will get a copy of any questions sent to your challenge's email. I can and will respond for you, so you don't show your NASA email and get bombarded with questions. Amazingly there aren't a ton of questions before or during the event (less than a dozen per challenge).

After 2 rounds of changes with the Office of the General Counsel (OGC), we had to make some changes to take out references to .coms, etc, and to not show favoritism to organizations/entities. We also had to make sure each challenge wouldn't interfere with any procurements. And in a few cases the name changed but you'll easily recognize it. If you have a critical change needed, please let me know and remember I'll have to clear it with OGC. Thanks and I'm so excited to see them posted! People are signing up for the 134 sites around the world in record numbers already!
