The Language, Logic and Cognition Center (LLCC) at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem (<https://scholars.huji.ac.il/llcc/home>), is an interdisciplinary research center engaged in issues pertaining to language, crossing boundaries of linguistics, philosophy, psychology, and computer science. We are recruiting a postdoctoral researcher for a period of 12 months, starting October 1st, 2019, with possible renewal for another 12 months, in at least one of the following research areas:

- Linguistics: syntax, semantics, pragmatics
- Computational linguistics
- Philosophy of Language
- Psycholinguistics

The successful applicant will be expected, in addition to carrying out his/her research, to interact with students and faculty of the LLCC and to participate in activities of the Center, including the organization of reading groups of interest to the community. The opportunity to teach may be available as well.

Applicants should provide:

- A Curriculum Vitae
- List of publications
- Description of research project (2 pages)
- 2 reference letters

Please send the application to Idit Chen iditch@savion.huji.ac.il

Contact Person: Nora Boneh nora.boneh@mail.huji.ac.il

Application Deadline: November 15th, 2018

Eligibility

The position is open to candidates who meet the following criteria:

1. Doctorate should not date earlier than October 1st, 2014.
2. Doctorate must be awarded by September 30th, 2019.
3. Applicants should not currently hold a Postdoc position at the Hebrew University.
4. Fellowships are rarely awarded to candidates who acquired their Doctorate at the Hebrew University (in such a case please contact Nora Boneh for further details.)

The applications will be examined by a LLCC committee. Selected candidates will be nominated to several fellowships at the university.

Notifications of acceptance are expected in the spring 2019.
